Buffet

Buffets are often the most popular option for weddings but we believe this is because it is generally the easiest way for caterers to feed large groups and most people see it as the cheapest option. If you have your heart set on a buffet we can definitely provide one for you and we can do anything from a traditional carved ham, roast beef etc. through to some more exciting options. A good quality buffet is no cheaper than a plated meal. Buffets require a few less staff but have a lot more wastage, so one cancels the other out. Some big caterers can provide very cheap buffets because they buy in a lot of mass produced products and simply reheat and present them. We make everything ourselves (except bread). This means everything is of the highest quality!

If space is tight remember if you have a buffet you need to allow room for the actual buffet as well as space between the tables so your guests can get up and down. Buffets start from $40pp.
